

Fushis cold pressed organic unrefined Camellia oil

Submitted by Mark Willy

2010-10-11 11:53:17

Camellia oil is derived from the seeds of camellias, a kind of evergreen shrub with shiny leaves and rose-like flowers. Camellia oil is known to be effective multi-purpose moisturiser. It has been used in parts of Asia by women to nourish both their skin and hair for centuries. It penetrates quickly and deeply, leaving the skin with optimum hydration and no greasy feel. It can help reduce fine lines, acne scarring, and the appearance of pores and diminish pregnancy stretch marks or prevent them. When used for cooking or in food, the oil has been recognised for its very low levels of saturated fats. It also contains high levels of omega-6 and omega-9 fatty acids, which are essential for good health.

Camellia oil can be used as an emollient for dry skin. It is light and easily absorbed oil that can be used as a moisturiser for dry and rough skin. Camellia oil is thought to help prevent and smooth wrinkles and stretch marks and heal scars. It contains Vitamins A, B, C, E and Polyphenol, natural antioxidants that safeguard your skin from the damaging effects of UV/environmental exposure and free radicals.

Traditionally Camellia oils has also been used as a as a hair oil in Japan to help nourish the scalp and hair. It adds shine, softness and smoothness to your hair.

How to buy Fushi products?

- Via the website <http://www.fushi.co.uk/>
- Mail-order by calling 0845 330 1880

The Product Range

- Herbal Remedies and Teas
- Nutraceuticals

- Hair care, Body and bath care
- Aromatherapy

Fushi believes that the body shouldn't be overexposed to chemicals and unnatural elements and uses natural and organic ingredients wherever possible. Fushi supports Fair Trade, only buying products from suppliers that do not exploit indigenous populations around the globe. Fushi is a Member of the Ethical Company Organisation and the Good Shopping Guide. Many products are suitable for vegetarians and vegans.

For further information, photography, expert quotes, or interview, please call: Mary Linehan
Mary Linehan PR Dir: 01923 253301 Mob: 07748 583294